About Brewster's Kananaskis Ranch Golf Course

Following the moraines on the north bank of the Bow River and surrounded by Rocky Mountain scenery, the course is the realization of legendary cowboy Bud Brewster's dream to build a golf course on the land that his family has ranched since 1923. The par 72 layout extends to an unassuming 5,606 yards of play that winds its way through the rugged, tree-lined terrain. The design puts accuracy off the tee at a premium, but also provides players with several risk reward opportunities. A number of water hazards and bunkers further add to the challenge and protect the well conditioned greens. The course provides visitors with exceptional mountain vistas and an abundance of wildflowers throughout the season.
